THE ELVES AND THE SHOEMAKER

Once there lived an honest shoemaker. He got so few orders and so little money that he had enough leather for only one pair of shoes. He wanted to make this pair. When he got up in the morning, he saw the shoes all ready on his table: "Am I dreaming? Did I make them?"

In the afternoon a customer was so pleased that he paid more than the shoemaker expected. With the money the shoemaker bought leather for two pairs of shoes.

Every morning the shoemaker found some pairs of shoes on his table. Soon he became rich. But he remained kind and honest. And he wanted to know who helped him. At night he hid behind a curtain. Late in the night two elves appeared. They sat down and began to work. When they finished the work, they cleaned the table, put the shoes in a row on the worktable, and disappeared.

Newt day his wife decided to repay their kindness. She made a complete suit of clothes for each elf. When the elves came, they saw the clothes, put it on and disappeared.

The shoemaker never saw them again. But he had no more hard times to the end of his life.
